A Trip in The Sun DCJ

At least once in a summer season it is pure enjoyment to change worlds completely. There is no easier or more enjoyable way to do this than to take a short trip over the bay to Martha's Vineyard. Each of us may have a favorite corner of the island to visit but without hesitation we would recommend Edgartown most highly as one of the most visually delightful. Edgartown is on a bluff overlooking its harbor and the bay beyond. The old homes are as different as the people who built them and they settle in this environment as naturally as the roses that cling to their fences. The visit should properly be made on a perfect day when the whites are blinding against the blue sky. This is a summer place protected by a natural barrier of water and season.

As over the years it has become more accessible, the character has changed but not yet to the extent that Cape Cod has been altered. An island demands a different personality in its year-round resident and when most of the invasion is confined to the warm season it slows the rate of change.

We are most fortunate to have an access from the New Bedford ferry that cuts out the hassle and traffic jams of the trip to Cape Cod. This is a plus that really counts. However, those who like adventure can take the ferry at Woods Hole or the ferry at Falmouth or Hyannis.

Whatever the route, the island views and style are a contrast to our everyday surroundings. It is a special world apart, within easy reach, and we are the richer for the experience. The rich and famous live here summers and moor their yachts in the harbor. For a day, everyone can share that dream and experience that outlook before we return to our favored spot on the shore.

Selectmen's Meeting

AUGUST 5, 1986 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL
SPRAYING FOR GYPSY MOTHS MAY BE HALTED (OR USE STOPPED)

Former Tree Warden John F. Denham, who since his retirement from the office has been conducting the spraying in town for gypsy moths, told Selectmen last Tuesday, "This will be my last year". Denham said recent communication from the state calling for the job of spraying to be a full-time job with at least three people doing the work is one of the reasons for his reluctance to continue the spraying. Also, he said, the mandated insurance costs are getting too high.

Earlier in the meeting, Mark Smola of 6 Stoney Hill Road informed the Board he had a problem in finding out just what are the contents of the spray being used for gypsy moths. Smola said he has young children and brought them indoors when he found this spraying being done during the day.

In trying to find out just what the spray consisted of, Smola said he spoke with Millie Sylvia, Selectmen's secretary, and she recommended he call either Plymouth County or Denham. Smola said he had no luck with a Plymouth County spokesperson, who also did not know what the spray was nor its contents.

Smola noted that when he spoke with Denham, Denham showed him the container of Malathion, which had a disclaimer saying it was poisonous. A call to the town's Board of Health was also met with a blank wall, as none there knew what the spray contained. Smola stressed he had no objection to the spraying, but just wanted to know the makeup of the spray. He felt the information should be more readily available in the Town Hall.

Denham explained to Selectmen that Malathion has been used for years and has been approved by the state environmental board even before it can be used. When it is used it is in the form of 40 to one parts ratio (40 parts water to one part of Malathion) and is sprayed from a truck traveling at five miles per hour. Denham also explained he usually sprays early in the morning; however, due to the dampness, he sprayed later in the morning. Denham commented, "It's too much to handle. I don't want to do it anymore."

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta agreed the cost of mandated insurance is getting out of hand. "We may have to eliminate the gypsy moth spraying for a few years. Denham has been conducting the spraying for us for a nominal charge over the years, and if we have to go to another private company the cost will be much higher." Selectman James F. Huntoon said many companies do not want to do this type of spraying anymore. "We may have to let Mother Nature take its course," said Huntoon. Denham will be contacted to obtain the exact contents of the spray and the amount sprayed, and the information will be forwarded to Smola.

In other business, Selectmen:

VOTED TO APPOINT Robert G. Caton, presently of 44 Arnold Street, South Dartmouth, as a Reserve Police Officer, at the recommendation of Police Chief James Moran, to be effective as of August 5, 1986.

Chief Moran explained Caton is building a house in the Leisure Shores area and will be a Mattapoisett resident. Caton has an honorable discharge after nine years in the Coast Guard, and was qualified as an EMT with the Coast Guard. Caton also assisted with the Bristol County Task Force in several drug operations.

MET WITH Marie Bourdon of 5 Marina Drive, concerning the ongoing problem of water draining on her property. At an earlier meeting, the Selectmen agreed to have the highway department replace the small pipes in the road with larger pipes.

Mrs. Bourdon said the highway department is presently working the Brandt Island area and she felt now would be a good time to replace the underground pipe. She said she spoke with Highway Surveyor Manuel R. Nunes, who said the money wasn't available at this time.

The Board agreed to contact Nunes to obtain the cost and check into any possible funds to get the job done now while the crew is in the neighborhood.

RECEIVED WORD from Peter P. Briggs, insurance agent for the police department's accident policy, regarding the changes in the renewal endorsements. Briggs noted in his letter there were no changes in the Fire Department's policy.

The changes now contain a $250 medical deductible and a seven-day waiting period for the weekly indemnity benefits. This means the company will pay only medical bills over $250. up to the limit of the policy and disability only after the first seven days a police officer has been injured and out of work.

Chairman DeCosta said he spoke with Raymond Covill, town insurance broker of record, and Covill recommended the Selectmen ask Briggs, who is an Independent Insurance Agent, to see if there is another company that could be an underwriter. DeCosta added that if all companies have the same stipulations, then the town must consider other options, such as possibly paying part of the difference.

From 1790 to 1815, the manufacture of salt was a thriving industry and continued, though on a lesser scale, during the shipbuilding days and until after the Civil War.

Saltworks, each covering one or more acres, stood on Mattapoisett Neck, Minister's Island, the northeast edge of Eel Pond, on the site where the Historical Society Museum and Carriage House now stands, on Ned's Point and along the beaches at Aucoot Cove.

The salt was produced by solar evaporation of seawater. Water was pumped from the harbor via windmills and channeled in large shallow vats of descending levels. The vats were protected from rain by means of movable roofs. The vats, about 18' square, rested on posts and the ground beneath was covered by beach sand to keep moisture from the bottom of the vats.

The purest salt was made in a unit of 4 vats, the water being drawn from one vat to another through wooden troughs. 350 gallons of seawater was needed to make 1 bushel of salt.

A model of a saltworks can be seen at the Museum and Carriage House and is currently a part of the special exhibit saluting the past and present industries and businesses of Mattapoisett. Museum hours are 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

TO STAGE COMEDY "EDUCATING RITA"

Perhaps you have seen the film "Educating Rita", which was released in 1983 and garnered for Michael Caine an Oscar nomination for his portrayal of a rummy English professor. Before it was a film, however, "Educating Rita" was a very successful London play, written for actress Julie Walters by Willy Russell. Miss Walters recreated the role of Rita in the movie.

This comedy is a marvelously funny, yet touching, tale of a working-class woman's quest to better herself. Director David B. Boyce has cast Jessica Shepardson, a well-known actress to MAC audiences, and Richard DeLongchamps, best remembered from last summer's success, "The Dining Room". These two aggressively talented performers spark "Educating Rita" fully to life. "Educating Rita" will be presented Aug-

One hundred and nineteen students, adults and children, participated in the Marion Art Center's summer classes this year which includes arts & crafts, dance, theater and music. "Kinderkeys", an introduction to the piano for young children, was very popular and will continue in the fall.

Marilyn Brown, Suzuki piano instructor, will present a recital of her students on Thursday, August 14th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Center. Flute students and instructor Wendy Rolfe will also perform at the recital. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to see and hear what these young musicians can do.

VETERANS' SERVICES

With the days of August stepping right along comes the realization that the fall season is not far distant and it is once again time to pick up knitting projects for the Veteran's Hospital in Brockton. All completed projects are due for delivery in December which makes it important that we start working now.

We will be making the six-inch squares (simple garter stitch) for the large afghans and also as many watch caps as possible (a very uncomplicated pattern). The more the hands the lighter the work,

A Thank You

Our sincere thanks to everyone who helped with the "Yard Sale - Etc" at Ashland Stable on August 2nd. The event was a huge success, and countless people were responsible in many ways -- too numerous to mention.

But, in particular, we thank the following businesses that generously donated merchandise: Mahoney's Building Supply Center, The Toy Box, The Hay-Loft (all of Mattapoisett), Country Hardware (Acushnet), Agway (New Bedford), R.M. Morse

Here's how Chiropractic treats Athletic Injuries

Most athletes have come to recognize the hazards involved in their activities, and are among the most regular patients of chiropractic.

It is important to consult your doctor of chiropractic regularly, regardless of your type of recreational activity. If you are a parent, it is important to make certain your child does not suffer a spinal problem.

Your doctor of chiropractic will detect and correct subluxations, however incurred, and will arrest or prevent problems which they would produce. Chiropractic treatments can not only re-establish nerve function, but will relax you as well. With improved health, your enjoyment of your recreational activity will be enhanced.

ment. The editors of this publication were Steve Bliven, Assistant Director of Mass. C.Z.M., and Dr. Alan Hankin, Executive Director of the Lloyd Center. Copies can be obtained from the Center. There is a charge of $7.50 per copy which includes postage and handling.

The coast of southeastern New England, from Cape Cod to Connecticut, is known for its many inlets to estuaries and the large salt ponds which dot coastal maps. These ponds, from the large Point Judith Pond in Rhode Island to the smaller, less developed Allens Pond in Dartmouth, are important habitat for shellfish and finfish. Migratory birds, including species found on state and federal endangered species lists, use these areas for nesting, feeding stations during migration and as winter habitat. Threatened by development throughout the region, these ponds are of critical import to the overall ecology of the coastal zone.

Often a major problem confronting these bodies of water is maintenance of the inlet into the pond. Most of these ponds have extensive areas of salt marsh which requires changes of water during the tidal cycle to remain healthy. To provide for this exchange various attempts have been made to stabilize these inlets. Structures, such as groins or stone rip-rap, and channel dredging have had both positive and negative effects on shellfish populations, on sedimentation and on the overall "health" of the pond ecosystem.

Salt Ponds and Tidal Inlets addresses each of these issues and problems with individual articles on water quality, mosquitos and public health, sedimentation, management of inlets for anadromous fish and shellfish, and the effects of improper marsh management on salt marshes. Authors of these articles included faculty of Southeastern Massachusetts University, Tufts University, Boston University and the University of Rhode Island.

Also covered in this publication are the engineering concerns in inlet management, and managing tidal inlets for flood protection by Stan Humphreys of IEP, Inc., a private consulting firm. The role of the private consultant was described by Andrew Magee of Jason M. Cortell and Associates, Inc. The regulatory process in the managing of the ponds, dredging and similar actions was covered by Michael Penney of Mass. CZM.

This publication is designed as an introduction for the lay person, a primer on salt pond and tidal inlet management for local and regional government agencies and as a reference for researchers and resource managers. This book exemplifies the efforts of the Lloyd Center in conjunction with Coastal Zone Management to provide up-to-date information on coastal issues to the people concerned with environmental quality or management. This publication is an excellent example of cooperation between a state agency and a local organization to assist communities in the difficult task of resource management.

For additional information about this publication or to obtain a copy contact the Lloyd Center at 990-0505 or stop by or write the Center at 430 Potomska Road, South Dartmouth, MA. 02748.

EMISSARIES FROM NEW AMSTERDAM TO VISIT PLIMOTH PLANTATION

Dutch messengers from the newly settled colony on Manhattan will arrive in New Plimoth on August 15th and 16th, to establish diplomatic relations with their English neighbors. The Dutch envoy, bearing letters and gifts from the Governor and Council of Fort Amsterdam, will be formally welcomed by Governor William Bradford and his trusted assistants, Captain Myles Standish and Master Thomas Prence.

Matters of trade between the two colonies will be discussed, and plans will be made for a future meeting with dignitaries of the Dutch settlement.

The English colonists will make every

CURRIER & IVES

From July 14th through October 15th 77 hand-colored Currier & Ives naval prints are on exhibit at The USS Constitution Museum, located in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Presented by the United States Naval Academy as part of a nationwide tour, the prints represent over half of the Currier & Ives naval scenes contained in the Beverley R. Robinson Collection.

The exhibit, made up of a diverse collection of battle scenes, ship portraits, political banners and cartoons, traces the growth of the American navy from its Revolutionary War infancy to its position in the late 19th-century as one of the most respected and powerful fleets in the world.

Briggs, a member of PCWT's Reservations Committee, who learned about the flora and fauna of the area while growing up in the Plymouth woods. Watch for PCWT signs not far from the intersection of Ship Pond Road and Old Sandwich Road. For more information or directions, call 224-3587 or 826-5050.

The 112-acre Emery Preserve, the first of PCWT's 20 conservation areas, was donated by the late Mary B. Emery and her family in 1973. The preserve includes part of Cotton Pond where walk participants may see some of the vegetation and aquatic life of a shoreline community. Old sneakers for shallow-water wading are recommended, although this is not essential for enjoying the beauty of the pond. The walk route will also include a loop through some pine-oak woods with a variety of shrub growth and around a small swamp where there was a cranberry bog many years ago. A number of species of woodland bird inhabit the area. The trail that will be used was made possible by a grant from the Old Colony Natural History Society.

Sturdy footwear, insect repellent, and a water bottle are recommended for maximum comfort.

Money Management

FROM MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS, INC.

INVESTING FOR YOUR FUTURE

Everyone wants to have a secure financial future, yet many wait until it is too late to start saving or investing. Many investment choices, bonds, annuities and Ginnie Mae securities represent lower-risk, longer-term investments that could also start paying off early, according to the Massachusetts Society of CPAs.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

During this past year, U.S. Savings Bond have proven to be among the best investments. For one thing, their yields move with the market and have a floor -- but no ceiling -- on their yields.

In 1982, Congress made bonds more attractive by allowing interest rates on new series EE savings bonds to float at 85 percent of the yield on five-year treasury securities. The government also set a minimum rate of 7.5 percent if you hold the bond for five years.

Savings bonds don't actually pay interest, but are purchased at one-half of their face value, which can be as small as $50. and can range up to $10,000. You can redeem them at maturity at more than face value, depending on interest rates. At the minimum of 7.5 percent, a $1,000 savings bond, for which you paid $500., would be redeemed at $1,044.07 after 10 years. After the five-year minimum holding period to get that rate, your bond would be worth at least $722.52.

Tax on the interest generated by most savings bonds can be deferred until the bonds are cashed in, an attractive feature to those expecting to be in a lower bracket. Interest from savings bonds, like all interest from U.S. government securities, is exempt from state and local taxes.

received after retirement. The annuity builds up cash until you choose to receive distributions (in either a lump sum or periodic payments). Those distributions usually begin during retirement, are paid over a set period of time or can continue for a lifetime.

Annuities could be a high-yield investment vehicle with several attractive features. Income tax on accumulated interest, for example, is deferred until payouts begin. At that point a formula determines the excludable portion (interest) of each payment.

Because annuities may allow limited access to your money, they are attractive even when you are far away from retirement. Some annuities permit withdrawals of up to 10 percent of accumulated value in any one year without any charge or penalty. Be aware, however, that the interest on certain withdrawals made before age 59½ is subject to a five percent IRS penalty.

Many insurance companies have now incorporated the annuity into a life insurance product. Called the single premium whole life insurance policy, the single premium policies are mostly investments that qualify for tax breaks. As the name implies, you pay the premium only once. That premium can be hefty, normally start-

GINNIE MAES

For those wanting to invest less money, securities issued by the Government National Mortgage Association, normally called Ginnie Maes, could be a good investment. A Ginnie Mae certificate represents a share in a pool of government guaranteed mortgages that is backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. The minimum size of original invididual certificates is $25,000, but existing certificates may be purchased for substantially less. Also, shares in mutual funds or unit trusts comprised of Ginnie Mae securities can be purchased for as little as $1,000.

Although mortgages typically run 25 to 30 years, Ginnie Mae yields are projected to an average life of 12 years. Sometimes mortgages are prepaid and the life of the pool is shortened, which could change the yield to the investor.

Each month, as a Ginnie Mae investor, you receive both interest and a partial return of capital representing partial amortization of the principal on all the mortgages in the pool. These regular payments -- although they will vary, depending on how many mortgages are paid off in a given month -- make Ginnie Maes an attractive investment.

Bonds, annuities, and Ginnie Maes are

SMOKEOUT STAR QUEST
CELEBRATES DECADE OF QUITTING

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Greater American Smokeout on November 20, 1986, the American Cancer Society's New Bedford Unit is participating in a Star Quest to locate and recognize Massachusetts individuals who have quit smoking during the last ten years. Star Quest will also encourage smokers who want to quit to make this their year.

Anyone who quit smoking during the past ten years -- whether for a Great American Smokeout or on any other day -- is eligible to receive a free "I'm A Star, I've Quit Smoking" button from the Society's New Bedford Unit. Quitters may also enter the Smokeout Star Quest photo contest, according to Rona Zable, Public Information Chairperson for the Society's New Bedford Unit.

To receive a free button, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to the American Cancer Society office at 37 Taber Street, New Bedford, MA. 02740, with a note telling when you quit smoking, Rona Zable said.

"To enter the Star Quest photo contest, send us a photograph of yourself doing something that you could not do before you quit smoking, or enjoying something that you can do better now that you are smoke-free," Ms. Zable said. "All entries will be judged by a panel of ex-smoker celebrity judges, and the winner will star in an American Cancer Society television spot for the 1986 Great American Smokeout."

All entries become the property of the American Cancer Society's Massachusetts Division. The television spot starring the Star Quest winner will be produced in late September.

"We are all bombarded with billboard, newspaper, and magazine advertisements that depict vigorous young people ostensibly enjoying their cigarettes while having fun," Rona Zable said. "But these are just ads, and the people in them are, of course, only models. The American Cancer Society wants to promote the new, healthier life-styles of real people who have chosen to trade in their cigarette packs for longer lives."

Since the first Smokeout on November 17, 1977, millions of Americans have taken advantage of the smokeless Thursday before Thanksgiving to kick the cigarette habit first for 24 hours, and then for good. Participation in the 1985 Great American Smokeout broke all records -- more than 23 million smokers, or 42.6 percent of all smokers in the U.S. -- according to a survey conducted for the Society by the Gallup Organization. Approximately 7 million participants made it through the day without smoking, and 3.7 million were still not smoking a week after the Smokeout.

For more information about the Smokeout and the Star Quest contest, contact the New Bedford office of the American Cancer Society at 996-6262, or call the Society's Massachusetts headquarters toll-free at 1-800-952-7664.

Through the lawyer's interaction with his new neighbors, the viewer learns about federal tax laws affecting pensions, IRAs, taxability of Social Security and tax benefits for older Americans.

Interested individuals, community groups and retirement organizations can obtain a free videotape loan copy of "A Less Taxing Retirement" in 3/4 inch or VHS videotapes, or 16mm film from the IRS by writing to: Internal Revenue Service, Public Affairs Office, P.O. We live in our porch ...

in the spring, summer and fall. It takes a lot of abuse with 3 children, 3 cats and a dog. So, when we decorated it we needed to take the "abuse factor" into consideration. The wicker furniture came from a lovely woman's basement. We painted it white. The dhurrie rugs (great because you can flip them over) came from a shop in Newport - on sale, of course. And for our windows (15 of them!) and slipcovers we chose coordinated 100% cotton print fabrics by Barrows. Excellent because they offer a huge selection of fabrics in great colors (we chose rose) at a reasonable price.
We offer Barrows fabrics as well as many other fabric lines. We can help you decorate any room in your home taking your "abuse factors" and budget into consideration.

p.m. Then, on Sunday, August 17th, John Pandolfi and the Regional Symphonic Band will perform a concert of Civil War Music at 2:00 p.m. Both shows will be performed on the outside concert green.

Orrin Star is a folk and bluegrass performer whose dazzling instrumental skills, diverse repertoire and wry sense of humor have delighted audiences throughout the U.S. and abroad. Like Doc Watson and David Bromberg before him, he is a hot guitarist who is also a gifted interpreter of America's folk heritage, a player who can bring life to an old song, warm up a newer one, and who can have fun while doing it.

He first achieved national notice in 1976 by winning the National Flatpicking Championship, the largest bluegrass guitar contest in the country. Star has two albums on Flying Fish Records and is the author of a flatpicking instruction book from Oak Publications. He has also appeared on "A Prairie Home Companion", National Public Radio, and "Good Day", ABC-TV.

Funding for this performance has been provided in part by a grant from New England Telephone and the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities through the New England Foundation for the Arts.

On Sunday, at 2 p.m., John Pandolfi and the Regional Symphonic Band will perform a concert of Civil War Music. This show will compliment this season's special exhibition in the Military Museum, "Civil War on Land and Sea", which commemorates the 125th anniversary of the Civil War.

Pandolfi is a favorite with Heritage Plantation audiences. He has played a band concert under a tent for the Annual Antique Auto Show since the start of that event 13 years ago and will be back again this year to do so on September 21st. Pandolfi, owner of Symphony Music Shop in Dartmouth, has performed for 15 years. The Band now makes its home at the Zeiterion Theatre where it performs three or four shows during the season.

Membership, as well as admission tickets to the Museum for the day, will be honored
